

THE CANDIDATE & TWO GUYS NAMED JOE

There was some truth telling going on from some guys named Joe. The first was a plumbing contractor that challenged candidate Barack Obama on his tax policies. He told the senator that his plans would hurt the small businessman thereby allowing the pain to 'trickle down' to his employees. So Barack did a little truth telling of his own. He revealed his socialist agenda. He told Joe The Plumber, (not really named Joe), that he wanted to "spread the wealth" around. In other words, he wants to take money from the people that earn it and give it to people that don't. That's income redistribution. That would be like – you know – Marxism: "From each according to his ability to each according to his need". A wonderfully revelatory statement from the Illinois Senator, that! Of course none of that should come as any real surprise considering Obama's past connections with those of the radical persuasion including unrepentant terrorist Bill Ayers, convicted felon Tony Rezko, the folks at ACORN, Trilateralist and policy advisor Zbigniew Brzezinski, Father Pfleger and Louis Farrakhan, etc.<sup>1</sup> Now Obama has managed to throw most of these people under the bus, - at least as far as the mainstream media is concerned. None of these associations is even the least bit of an issue to BIG MEDIA.

Perhaps more interesting than that however, is the rambling 'truth' that came out of the mouth of VP candidate, Senator Joe Biden speaking before supporters in a forum he believed was free from the press. Here's the money quote that has created all the buzz. "Mark my words. It will not be six months before the world tests Barack Obama like they did John Kennedy. The world is looking. We're about to elect a brilliant 47-year-old senator president of the United States of America. Remember I said it standing here if you don't remember anything else I said. Watch, we're gonna have an international crisis, a generated crisis, to test the mettle of this guy." Biden went on to name several scenarios that could set off what he had already characterized as "a generated crisis"; - including the Middle East, Russia, a Pakistan "bristling with nuclear weapons", and a systemic failure of the economy. Then he went on to say that we should expect Obama to make the hard, unpopular decisions and predicted that he would lose popularity and support in the polls. Then came the hint of internationalist solutions. "We do not have the military capacity...to dictate outcomes. It's so much more complicated than that. And Barack gets it."<sup>2</sup>

So the question that screams out is this: WHAT IS IT THAT BARACK GETS? And perhaps more important: What's Senator Joe trying to communicate about the head of his ticket? That there are looming international crisis is no secret. And yes, the next president, whoever he is will be tested. So by conveying the notion that a President Obama would make unpopular – but necessary – decisions, is Mr Biden telling us that he will move back toward his radical roots. We must remember just who Barack Obama is. He is the candidate of income redistribution, the candidate of partial birth abortion and homosexual rights. And if you believe the left-leaning political and financial analyst, Webster G Tarpley: He is the candidate of Wall Street and the international banking houses that pull the strings behind the scenes. It is they who make Presidents and Prime Ministers dance to the tune they call.<sup>3</sup>

In a May 2008 interview, Tarpley presented the evidence that Obama was tied to Brzezinski, of the Trilateral Commission, Joseph Nye of the Bilderbergers, the Ford Foundation and the Council on Foreign Relations. Obama's earlier comment about wanting to bomb Pakistan was no mistake but instead was an expression of Brzezinski's long held policy views, seeing Pakistan as an ally of China and China as a main competitor. Brzezinski, who despises Russia, has always tried to play off parties against each other, - like the Russians and the Chinese. [What's interesting about all of this is that his faction has now gained ascendance even in the Bush Administration. That's what explains America's new found interest in Africa and the looming conflict there with both the Chinese and al-Qaeda.] This is the same policy that was attempted by the British in the 1930's as they maneuvered to set Hitler against Stalin, - with a marked lack of success, I might add. Now Obama's mom was a communist sympathizer working for the Ford Foundation which has a history of supporting programs that promote social engineering through group / racial conflict. Obama himself is tied as a community organizer to the likes of Saul Alinsky and Mr Ayers. That mindset can also explain the association with Rev Jeremiah Wright with his racially toned messages and his separatist Black Liberation Theology. Remember that in each of these cases, Senator Obama did not distance himself from these people until it got a little too hot in the kitchen.<sup>4</sup> Through all of this however, the candidate maintains a quiet but solid connection to Zbigniew Brzezinski.

Now that connection bears looking into. You see, though Brzezinski served as President Carter's National Security Advisor his credential's as a patriot, in the old sense of the word are severely in question. Judging by his writings, coming especially from his 1970 defining book, Between Two Ages, his loyalties lie with David Rockefeller internationalism and the Trilateralists. Further, they go far in explaining many of Barack's own political positions. Zbigniew Brzezinski writes that "Marxism represents a further vital and creative stage in the maturing of man's universal vision". He calls it "a victory of reason over belief" and a "mechanism of human progress" providing "a unique intellectual tool for understanding and harnessing the fundamental forces of our time". As a shill for the international bankers, Zbiggy sees the use of socialist / communist ideology as a 'tool' for the advancement of their cause of total global control on the political, economic and even spiritual levels.<sup>5</sup> As shown in the past, this connection of Wall Street banker types with the radical movements is well documented and prevalent dating back all the way to Trotsky and Lenin, - not to mention Hitler and Mussolini.

Interestingly Tarpley, who fully understands Big Money's collusion with radical movements in the past, sees Obama as a Mussolini of a sort, leading a leftist populist revolution against the perceived forces of government. He is heading a "grass roots movement that has anti-authoritarian cover". This writer of liberal bent paints the candidate as a most dangerous man indeed. "Obama is the most synthetic. He is the most prepared, indoctrinated, and I would indeed say brainwashed candidate that we've had. Obama himself is nothing. He has no legislative record, he has no accomplishments, no commitment, no loyalties." Tarpley sees him as "essentially an empty slate on which people are invited to project what they think". And he's described him as a mind-controlled man; - A Manchurian Candidate.<sup>6</sup>

HORIZONS

TOWARD A NEW ECONOMIC ORDER - President Bush and other world leaders have announced that they will convene an economic summit sometime shortly after the election to rework the global financial system. On the agenda will be the total reform of the global financial system. Just what that means is a bit of a mystery. The present system, built on the American dollar and with its ties to oil purchases, has served to maintain the US standard of living in an age of increasing debt. The President talks of conserving the free market system, while European leaders like Sarkozy of France and Gordon Brown of Britain want broader reforms that include increased international control and possibly a new currency system.<sup>7 8</sup> An international conference to reorder the global economy is part of the revealed plan of the Illuminati to bring forth the New World Order.

RUMORS OF WAR & PEACE IN ISRAEL – Tehran decided to up the ante in its war of words with Israel by conducting a massive air force exercise simulating an attack on the Jewish state, to demonstrate their capability to do so.<sup>9</sup> This is especially alarming in the light of the recently updated US intelligence estimate that Iran will be building their own bombs in just a few short months; by February, - just after the next president takes office.<sup>10</sup> At the same time, Israeli Defense Minister Barak is trumpeting the old Saudi Peace Plan that would have Israel trade the West Bank, Gaza, Jerusalem and the Golan for recognition of Israel's right to exist.<sup>11</sup> [That of course is a definition of insanity...] Then there's this. Israeli media claims that President Bush offered Syrian President Assad the Golan Heights in exchange for Damascus pulling out of its alliance with Tehran. Two problem's with this. Israel occupies that territory right now, - not the United States. Secondly, and more importantly, - This is God's land and He means to keep it. In fact what Israel has now is not even the half of it. Deuteronomy 11:24 promises Israel will occupy the land "from the wilderness of Lebanon , from the river, the river Euphrates, even unto the uttermost sea shall your coast be". Mr Bush is playing with fire here. In Joel 3:2 God has promised to "execute judgment" on those that have "divided My land".

THESE TIMES THEY ARE A CHANGE'IN – (ARE YOU?)

Rev Randy Smith

A week or so ago as I was getting ready to leave home on my motorcycle heading to church, I sensed the changing of the weather and the season from summer to fall. There was a nice warm breeze that morning, but I could see that summer was waning. The leaves really hadn't started to turn yet, but there were red and yellow leaves at the tops of some trees. I'm told that the change in the color of the trees, from green to many shades of gold, red, orange and brown is due to the decrease of daylight. With believers it is the opposite. It is the presence of The Light that causes us to change. I believe that as followers of Christ, we should stay in the Light and watch for the seasons in our lives to change. My wife and I had been out walking one afternoon, and Dobie, our mini dachshund, stopped at her usual stop where we noticed a milkweed growing at the side of the road. Monarch butterflies lay their eggs on the leaves of this plant, and sure enough there were some on this one. We picked the leaf and took it home. What happened over the next few weeks was amazing. That little speck of an egg hatched into a caterpillar that underwent some drastic transformations in a short time, as it ate through at least one fresh milkweed leaf each day. Finally, when fully grown, it crawled up the side of the tank onto the lid where it attached itself and entered into a green pod of a chrysalis. After about 15 days in this stage, the chrysalis opened and out came a fully grown Monarch butterfly. That little caterpillar changed from the inside - out! The morning it emerged, we saw it hanging from the tip of the tank, slowly flapping both wings. We wanted to help it, but that might have hampered the process. The flapping of the wings is what gives it strength to finally fly away, on the long flight to Mexico. We left the tank open, and when it was ready to fly, our (son or daughter) butterfly left on the long trip south. Things change.

I have a few bird feeders in the back yard and even the birds are changing color with the season. The male finches are losing their bright yellow color which is being replaced with drab golden brown. Everything is subject to change except for our God. Malachi 3:6a says, "For I am the Lord, I change not." The never changing Changeless One desires to change you and me, but He will not violate our will. God loves you right where you are, but He has made provision for you to go farther, deeper, and higher. It is up to us.

Where are you? Are you an egg that has not yet hatched? Or maybe you are a caterpillar voraciously eating the Word of God, growing rapidly every day? Perhaps you have already entered into your chrysalis (cocoon) and in that private, dark place are being changed into what God wants you to be. Have you already hatched; broken out triumphantly from your cocoon, and begun to flap your new found wings, ready to fly? Or maybe you have already started your long flight to the next place (season)? Wherever you are in the process, there is always more.

Salvation must express itself in progressive Christian living (change), and in demonstration of upright character. In Philippians 2:12-13, the Apostle Paul says it like this - "Therefore, my beloved, as you have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God who works in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure."

There are 3 stages of salvation:

- 1 - Justification - Just as if I'd never sinned, I am saved. When we come to Christ we become new creatures in Him. Old things pass away and all things become new. We are covered over with a robe of righteousness, and when God sees us - He sees Jesus. (See 2 Cor. 5:17-21 for further study)
- 2 - Sanctification - I am being saved. As we seek to know more about the Savior, through Bible study, prayer, and fellowship, a change begins to take place inside of us. During this stage of development we learn what pleases God, by laying aside those things that stunt our growth and hinder us. We are in training for reigning! Heb 12:1-2 "Therefore let us also, seeing we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, lay aside every weight and the sin which so easily entangles us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking to Jesus, the author and perfecter of faith, who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising shame, and has sat down at the right hand of the throne of God." Jesus looked forward to the JOY of seeing us succeed in being sanctified, changed, and made into His likeness. We also can have fun, be joyful, and excited in the process!
- 3 - Glorification - At this stage of our journey we receive our new glorified bodies. 1 Corinthians 15:50-52 "Now I say this, brothers, that flesh and blood can't inherit the Kingdom of God; neither does corruption inherit incorruption. Behold, I tell you a mystery. We will not all sleep, but we will all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet. For the trumpet will sound, and the dead will be raised incorruptible, and we will be changed." In an atomic second, at the last trumpet, we will be like Him! (For further study read 1 John 3:2 and 1 Corinthians chapter 15)

We undergo change, but what about now? 2 Cor. 3:18 "But we all, with unveiled face beholding as in a mirror the glory of the Lord, are transformed into the same image from glory to glory, even as from the Lord, the Spirit." The key word is transformed. In the Greek translation it is metamorphoo - change, adjust parts, complete. Hey - remember the butterfly? It underwent a complete change inside and out. According to Strongs Concordance the word transform denotes a change in character (nature) as well as the physical. True change takes place in a believer as they submit themselves to the working of the Holy Spirit. Transformation begins on the inside. Values, priorities, thoughts, and perhaps desires and goals begin to change. The final kingdom to be conquered and changed is our will. King David penned these words in Psalm 19, "Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in Your sight, O Lord, my strength and my Redeemer." David's desire was to please God, not himself. This should be our main goal. The mouth is a microphone for what is in the heart - Oh my! Hurts and unforgiveness that are not released to the Lord, will creep into your conversations and behavior. I know this to be true in my life. Let Him heal the hurts, anger, and anything else that dominates your thought life, and He will. It is on the inside that we need to be changed and transformed. Then the words and the thoughts of our heart will be acceptable to the Lord. This is not a one time thing, but a lifetime of changing from glory to glory. A lifetime of submitting to the Lord and to those who will help to guide you on your journey.

Too many times we put on a game 'face' or a new 'suit'. We look good on the outside but on the inside there is a storm in a teacup. Jesus is more interested in the inner man, than on the outer man. In fact, the Apostle Paul said this in 2 Corinthians 4:16, "Therefore we don't faint, but though our outward man is decaying, yet our inward man is renewed day by day." Transformation is the inner man being renewed day by day. You'll find that as change takes place on the inside, it will appear on the outside. Your countenance will change and you might have a look of peace or a healthy glow of joy on your face. In Acts 4:13 you can read the account of Peter and John being brought before the Sanhedrin (religious court). When the members of this body saw the boldness (an inner working) of these men, and that they were uneducated and untrained, they perceived that they had been with Jesus. When we spend time with Jesus, the changes He makes on the inside, show up on the outside! There are no shortcuts to glory. Transformation will cost you time and your agenda.

Look at a warning Paul gave us (read 2 Corinthians 11:5-15). In Verses 13 to 15 Paul warns of deceitful workers who 'transform' themselves into apostles of Christ. These 'apostles' looked good on the outside, but they were wicked on the inside. This word 'transform' has a different meaning than that of 2 Cor. 3:18. According to Strongs Concordance this word is metaschematizo, which means to disguise oneself, or an external condition. I suppose that their role model was Satan, because it is said of him that he transforms himself into an angel of light. Evil on the inside, good on the outside. Many Bible scholars translate the word serpent as meaning 'the shining one', an angel of light so to speak, by which Adam and Eve were fooled in the garden, an encounter which led to the fall of man (read Genesis chapter 3).

When our children dress up in costumes, they portray themselves as something, but that is not who they really are. In these last days we need to know what the Bible says is truth, so that we can recognize the 'real deal' - our life could depend on it! Be like the butterfly who went through all the stages of development to gain his final transformation, inside and out. He was beautiful, strong, and ready to fly. What about you?

WE NEED HELP!

This ministry is embarking on several projects that we hope to unveil in the immediate future. We are in need of seed money to get a book project completed and sent to the printer. An old lap top and projector would be greatly appreciated. A website is being designed and needs money to complete and launch. That's where you can come in. We need people to partner with us in getting the word out. If you can help us please make checks payable to My Father's House and indicate it's for Zew's News Review & send to:

Zew's News Review, My Father's House // 140 Pound Rd // Elma, NY 14052

Thank you for your contributions and thank you especially for your prayers. May God bless you.
