AS IN THE DAYS OF NOAH – PART IX

In this series we've looked briefly at some of the characteristics of the "Days of Noah"; finding in them parallels with our own time. Recall that Jesus said, "And as it was in the days of Noah, so it will be also in the days of the Son of Man". (Luke 17:26) We saw how the world was filled with violence, sexual depravity, homosexual activity and acceptance, rejection and disbelief of the things of God – and probably most important - an exploding connection with the demonic / satanic, that fed the rest of these aspects of mankind's rebellion. Now what I've found in tackling this subject is that it is incredibly timely in this sense: The outflow of current information has not even peaked yet. There is so much more to cover. Today we'll finish up....for a time....with a scattering of somewhat random observations in several areas that goes to confirm the relevance of the subject. And we'll leave the door open to revisit this subject in the future.

SUMMING UP

Not more than a month ago, I was given a piece of information from a private source – certainly unconfirmed, as it was – that said that NASA was getting ready to announce – early next year as it happens – that we were and have been in contact with alien cultures. ET is therefore real. And we better get ready to deal with the consequences that such a piece of information would bring. [Now I cannot confirm this – nor am I saying that this is true – just that I was given the report.] The fact that I was given such information is not out of the realm of reality. In other parts of the world, high ranking sources have suggested this very thing for sometime now. The UK, Denmark, Sweden, Uruguay, Russia, and New Zealand have all recently released their UFO files and the EU took up the debate this last spring.<sup>1</sup> In a more pedestrian way, the revelations were beginning to come. This last week, FOX ran a story that scientists were finding evidence for alien life within our galaxy. "NASA is widely expected to announce that the discovery of arsenic-based life on Earth, a find that could change its future quest for life on other planets."<sup>2</sup> In the event, what NASA announced was that this organism was evidence that "Alien life has been with us all along." Arsenic based life changes the biology and makes life possible in environments heretofore dismissed as being impossible to sustain it. As one scientist put it: "If there is more than one recipe that makes life, then there are chances of rolling the dice in a chemical soup of all over the universe, and the chances of that chemical soup giving rise to life is much larger." Taking into consideration the new paradigm, NASA may consider sending further missions to places like Jupiter's moon Europa and Saturn's moon Titan.<sup>3</sup> Now let me throw an even crazier piece of information at you. Last year, a released CIA document, revealed that agents practicing remote viewing, employed by the Defense Intelligence Agency "saw" extraterrestrial life on Saturn moon Titan." Now, in case the term 'remote viewing', here's the Wikipedia definition. "Remote viewing (RV) is the ability to gather information about a distant or unseen target using paranormal means or extra-sensory perception or sensing with mind." You may recall that this is a practice found only in the paranormal, satanic occultism and among so-called ETs.<sup>4</sup>

There is more evidence surfacing almost all the time. Just in November of 2010 stories were published that UFO's were sighted near Charlotte, NC. In Britain, "Dorito-Shaped UFO's" were reported. And a former Marine, among others, witnessed a "Black helicopter" following a triangle UFO with "three giant white lights". Back in 1995, it came out that Ben Rich, the Lockheed CEO and developer of the Stealth fighter-bomber, admitted on his deathbed that UFO's and ETs are real phenomena. According to Rich, the US military has "the means to travel among the stars, but these technologies are locked up in black projects." The technology is a mimicking of 'alien' technology. Also was revealed was the use of ESP and remote viewing techniques in these top secret operations.<sup>5 6 7 8</sup> Sound far fetched? Well to me too. And then we can start to look at what some of America's astronauts have been saying. Buzz Aldrin, the second man to set foot on the moon pressured the government to release the files on UFO's, convinced that there was a lot more to it than what has been officially revealed. Then there's Dr Edgar Mitchell of Apollo 14. One online article references a Dateline NBC appearance from 1996 "during which he discussed meeting with officials from three countries who claimed to have had personal encounters with extraterrestrials." He offered his opinion that the evidence for such 'alien' contact was 'very strong' and 'classified' by governments, who were covering up visitations and the existence of alien beings' bodies in places such as Roswell, New Mexico. He further claimed that UFOs had provided 'sonic engineering secrets' that were helpful to the U.S. government. Finally, there is Gordon Cooper, whose entire squadron observed a formation of UFOs over Central Europe in 1951, with advanced flying capabilities that seemed to defy physical laws.<sup>9</sup>

And in a story dated in September of 2010, the UK's Telegraph published research conducted by 6 former US airmen who "interviewed or researched the evidence of 120 ex-military personnel." They concluded that "aliens could have landed on Earth as recently as seven years ago." But events went back even farther. One report stated that back in Malmstrom Air Force Base in Montana, an object "came over and hovered directly over the site". That was back in 1967. That aircraft "shut down 10 Minuteman missiles....the same thing happened at another site a week later." One Captain Bruce Fenstermacher of the US Air Force witnessed a "cigar-shaped UFO hovering over a nuclear base in Wyoming in 1976." And Colonel Charles Halt witnessed an event at an RAF base near Ipswich, England. As the Telegraph reported, he said that "beams of light fired into the base then heard on the military radio that aliens had landed inside the nuclear storage area." He believes that the governments of both the US and the UK are hiding the "significance of what occurred" and are engaged in routine "disinformation" on the subject.<sup>10</sup> And as we go to press the Telegraph reports that new WikiLeaks are expected to reveal "fresh details on UFOs" found in official diplomatic cables.<sup>11</sup> So something indeed is happening here...though what it is may not be exactly clear.

Now there are powerful forces trying to convince us that there is indeed more to this than the ramblings of unstable hayseeds who witnessed some unexplainable lights in the sky. Disney, for instance, ran a video in their New Tomorrow Land, from about 1995 to 2003 called ExtraTERRORestrial Alien Encounter. In that show - and a similar sneak preview that had a one time run in 5 US cities - actor Robert Ulrich narrated the film in a "straight, matter-of-fact, totally serious cadence and inflection." As one commentator put it: It appears "to have been a definite probe to measure public reaction to news of the reality of visitation." Ulrich admitted as much in his closing remarks. "Here in the New Tomorrowland at Disney World, scientists and Disney engineers have brought to life a possible scenario that helps acclimate the public to their inevitable alien encounter." Right from the beginning of the film, the narrator sets the tone. The message: Alien contact is real! "This is not swamp gas. It is not a flock of birds. This is an actual spacecraft from another world, piloted by alien intelligence." Shortly after that, Ulrich refers some of the recent evidence. "Scientific verification of extraterrestrial life forms routinely arriving on earth; top secret reports from ongoing military investigations; compelling home videos of alien craft captured within the last few months; world figures who have gone public with their own extraterrestrial experiences; the shocking history of government misinformation programs designed to prevent widespread panic; and personal accounts of those who have been abducted and studied against their will. From beyond the boundaries of our perceptions, intelligent beings are beckoning mankind to join the galactic community. It's an invitation which is both wondrous and terrifying. This is the nature of alien encounters."<sup>12 13</sup>

Now some official religious sources are taking this stuff very seriously indeed. Even the Vatican has chimed in. The Pope's chief astronomer, Brother Guy Consolmagno has declared that alien's would indeed have souls. "Any entity - no matter how many tentacles it has - has a soul." Citing "thousands of eyewitness reports", Monsignor Baducci, another high Vatican official, also concludes "There must be something to" the UFO phenomenon. He believes that they must be beings "with a material part and a spiritual part...some middle stage" between angels and man..."with a body like ours but more elevated spiritually."<sup>14</sup>

Meanwhile, two stories on a slightly different front caught my eye, as they pointed toward developments on the Transhumanist front. A lawsuit has been filed alleging that the "CIA implanted electrodes in brains of unsuspecting soldiers", in order to control behavior. One plaintiff is presenting evidence of an MRI that he says will prove the CIA placed a device in his head back in 1966. Now back in 1979, John Marks, a former State Department intelligence officer, wrote a book called, The CIA and the Search for the Manchurian Candidate. In it he offers a memo by a leading agency scientist that admits that the "feasibility of remote control of activities in several species has been demonstrated", and that "evaluations will be conducted toward the application of selected elements of these techniques to man."<sup>15</sup> Then there is this headline from a technology / science magazine called Gizmag. "Scientists attach barcodes to mouse embryos - human ones coming soon."<sup>16</sup> In the past, this was done under cover of darkness. Now it is being freely admitted. You can start to see what's coming. Just do the math.

Thus we are seeing increasing evidence that we are living in the return of the 'Days of Noah'. Mankind's rebellion is beginning to flower. Our culture has been in the preparation mode for some time now. Movies and TV and popular culture in general has been preparing the way - making straight the path for the rise of a New (Age) Messiah. The truth is that many will be fooled - and they will be complicit in their own deception. Recall the common message to those who've been the 'victim' of alien contact. All religions are the same. We are all potential gods. It is a denial of all Christian principles. After all, as 2Corinthians 11:14 tells us: "Satan himself transforms himself into an angel of light."

What we often forget in all of this is that while we generally deal in principles and concepts....the application of all this is personal. So here's just a little bit of evidence of a different sort - the personal kind. As I often do, I was speaking to a colleague of mine, Alan Thompson about a number of issues on the prophetic front. He told me this story that was related to him - unsolicited - by a fellow believer at his church. The story stands on its own. So I will leave it in his words.

"Yesterday, Sunday Dec 5th I had the pleasure of attending a Birthday party being held after normal church hours at our church. As festivities went on a lot of the guys started gathering together to discuss the Word and exchange testimonies. One of my brothers shared a testimony that at this point I hadn't heard him recount.

He admitted that prior to his salvation he was very interested in UFO-ology. One night shortly after his conversion to Christ he decided to take the matter before the Lord in prayer. He asked God to reveal to him how UFO's fit into this world, and for wisdom and understanding in the matter. He then proceeded to tell me of the dream that he had that night. He saw a UFO come down and land in his front yard and an alien being stepped out of the ship and came to him. He said it had an appearance as a man in a fencing suit with a kind of mesh helmet. You could not see his face. They had a conversation that went like this. He asked the alien if there is a God in the heavens beyond what we can see. The response was 'No, there is no God', only more space, planets, stars, and galaxies. My friend responded, 'That's too bad, I just got saved. What about Jesus Christ?' At this the being recoiled violently! So he asked again. Again, there was the same violent reaction. At this point my friend realized what was going on and said the name of Jesus Christ – only with authority. This time however, the being reacted by transforming into a snake and slithering away. When my friend awoke he knew his answer. He knew that UFOs were sent from Satan to cause confusion. Needless to say, my (Al Thompson's) jaw dropped, I didn't tell him prior to this what I felt NASA was about to reveal in the next month or so or what my personal views were one way or the other. I must say that every hair in the back of my neck stood up from the confirmation I felt this had given me!"<sup>17</sup>

**** *

What we may witness is a gradual 'Alien Disclosure'. In fact, we may be in the midst of it right now. It will bring with it a natural undermining of long-held religious beliefs as the global population will begin to question both our origin and destiny; the two central questions of our existence. Our Adversary will offer his solution. It will seem to make sense to many. This has long been part of the plan of the Illuminati and assorted New Age & PTB types. Here, quoted again, are the words of one of their chief spokesman. Henry Kissinger was National Security Advisor and Secretary of State under Presidents Nixon and Ford. In 1992 he was secretly taped by a Swiss delegate at a Bilderberg meeting they were both attending. "Today Americans would be outraged if U.N. troops entered Los Angeles to restore order; tomorrow they will be grateful. This is especially true if they were told there was an outside threat from beyond, whether real or promulgated, that threatened our very existence. It is then that all peoples of the world will plead with world leaders to deliver them from this evil. The one thing every man fears is the unknown. When presented with this scenario, individual rights will be willingly relinquished for the guarantee of their well being granted to them by their world government."<sup>18</sup>

Sadly, many will be fooled. Many will go along...to get along. And many will go along, because they have no investment in Ultimate & Absolute Truth. That TRUTH is Jesus, Himself – who is the way the truth and the life". (John 14:6) Here are the words of 2Thessalonians 2:9-12: "The coming of the lawless one is according to the working of Satan, with all power, signs, and lying wonders, and with all unrighteous deception among those who perish, because they did not receive the love of the truth, that they might be saved. And for this reason God will send them strong delusion, that they should believe the lie, that they all may be condemned who did not believe the truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness."

MONEY, FOOD & YOU

Yeah, we'll talk a little macroeconomics – but then we'll get into where the rubber really meets the road. We'll look at what it could all mean to us on a very personal level. The unfolding economic crisis will hit us where it hurts and may actually change the way we live our lives.

The How & Why Of It

Here's a headline to get your attention: "World's Monetary System In the Process of Melting Down." John Hathaway opines that "We have entered the endgame for the dollar as the dominant reserve currency." That fact – if true – brings with it some very serious implications. Now Hathaway is not alone in that assessment. The evidence of some very serious trouble is increasing everyday. The world's central banks – like the Fed – are working to create inflation – in the process destroying the value of financial assets in an attempt to save the system. As inflation kicks in, that will only serve to incite consumers to spend money faster – driving inflation even more. We are already seeing the effects of this policy. Gold and silver are rising in value.<sup>19</sup> There are other crisis that we are facing. According to testimony before Congress, "$400 billion in secondary mortgages held by the top four banks" are worth only half that. Bank of America, for instance, may be in grave danger. Now the Fed over just the last three years has put $2.3 trillion into buying up US debt.<sup>20</sup> What the plan seems to be is just to effectively print our way out of trouble. This cannot end well. So though, he once promised he wouldn't, Federal Reserve Chairman Ben Bernanke is doing just that. Well, we should have known. Or rather I should say: I believe that they knew all along when he was appointed. We need only reference Bernanke's remarks in a speech given back in 2002, to understand that this may have been the plan all along. "But the U.S. government has a technology, called a printing press (or, today, its electronic equivalent), that allows it to produce as many U.S. dollars as it wishes at essentially no cost. By increasing the number of U.S. dollars in circulation, or even by credibly threatening to do so, the U.S. government can also reduce the value of a dollar in terms of goods and services, which is equivalent to raising the prices in dollars of those goods and services. We conclude that, under a paper-money system, a determined government can always generate higher spending and hence positive inflation."<sup>21</sup>

Things could get so bad that according to the International Monetary Fund, our federal debt levels could equal our total Gross Domestic Product by 2015. That would be worse than Greece and Ireland – countries that both just needed bailouts. That kind of debt is unsustainable. And there is no end in sight. According to an article in Foreign Affairs, the magazine mouthpiece of the Council on Foreign Relations; “As more and more debt piled up, growth would slow and American’s standard of living would fall.” That’s an amazing statement, of the country that has led the world since its inception in “can do”. So where does that lead? To an “age of American austerity”! How can it be otherwise? Budget deficits alone are conservatively projected to exceed $1 trillion annually until at least 2020. Then add in the over $100 trillion of the unfunded liabilities for things like Medicare and Social Security. An aging population will drive the medical care costs up to new levels. And we can’t forget the state pensions and other debts. Then add in the cities and counties who “face a $574 billion funding gap.” It’s quite the mess we’ve got on our hands.<sup>22 23</sup>

It’s Personal

‘So what does that mean to me,’ you ask. According many analysts, our standard of living is bound to fall – and fall hard. In the past, we’ve tracked the writings of Gerald Celente. Now, Daniel Amerman estimates that it will be about a 28% plunge. Our massive trade deficits and borrowing, means that maybe about 20% of our standard of living wasn’t real to begin with. We’ve been living off of other people’s money. As the dollar falls in value – they won’t want them so much – and we won’t be able to keep borrowing to produce our false prosperity.<sup>24</sup> As we run out of money, we can expect to see cuts in everything. Both defense and social spending will suffer. Even Medicare and the heretofore sacred Social Security will likely face major cutbacks.

The dollar cannot help but respond to this perfect storm of pressures. Already we can watch our gas prices creeping upward. Another place we’re seeing it already is at the grocery store. Part of what’s happening is that demand for food – and bio-fuels – is rising across the globe. Folks in India and China are richer than before and are starting to look for better diets. As worldwide consumption increases, stockpiles are going down. This – along with flooding and drought issues in such countries as Canada, Pakistan, China and Russia - has driven up futures prices of such commodities as corn, wheat, coffee and cotton by about 30%.<sup>25</sup> Now while food prices have crept upward, they’ve have not nearly reflected the rise in commodity prices. Food sellers are waiting as long as possible to pass on the rise in prices to consumers. But there’s a reckoning coming.<sup>26</sup> The UN is warning that the world is “dangerously close” to a brand new food crisis.<sup>27</sup>

Just how bad it could get was highlighted by a report issued by the National Inflation Association. They noted that in just 2 months time – September and October of this year – cotton had risen by 54%, sugar 51%, soybeans 22% and corn 29%. Taking into consideration the recent quantitative easing – or money printing spree by the Fed, the NIA issued projections for future prices would be like in about ten years. Here’s some of what they foresee for some very specific products.

- 2 Lbs of Domino Granulated Sugar - $62.21
- Quart of soy milk - $24.31
- Loaf of wheat bread - $23.05
- Half gallon of Minute Maid Orange Juice – 45.71
- Hershey’s Milk Chocolate Bar - $15.50
- Plain white men’s cotton T-shirt - $55.57<sup>28</sup>

I’m not saying they’re right – but I’m not making this up. Now add to all that, this interesting piece. The Senate has just passed its version of the Food Safety Modernization Act, something the House did this past summer. The legislation was written for the most part by former Monsanto employees, as one writer puts it, “to ensure that you get your food from their sources and not from any local small farmers”. The law seems to have little to do with actual food safety. The Agribusiness giants – like Monsanto, Cargill, Tyson, Kraft, DuPont, etc – will be the ones that benefit from the legislation when the different versions are reconciled and it finally becomes law. It would make it difficult if not impossible for Americans to grow and consume foods from their own gardens, or to save seeds, or to operate local farmers markets. As one pundit put it: “This would give Big brother the power to regulate the tomato plants in your backyard.” The article in Natural News goes on to describe the bill as granting “extraordinary powers to the FDA, which already has a long history of abuse and misuse of its authority over both foods and supplements. This bill would give the FDA the authority to impose extensive, burdensome requirements on small- and medium-sized farms, ranches, and orchards such that many of them would certainly be driven out of business.”<sup>29</sup>

To Michael Snyder writing for Economic Collapse, this is just another “huge power grab by the FDA.” It is written so “broadly and vaguely” that it will leave “tens of millions of Americans...wondering what they are allowed to grow in their back yards, what seeds they are allowed to save and what can and cannot be sold at a farmer’s market.” Snyder sees this as just another move to assert full government control over every aspect of our lives; from food to health care to our money. Its purpose is to create total dependence on government – so that the PTB can regulate – to their benefit – just how we poor benighted masses live our lives.<sup>30</sup> As such it is a part of the plan to manipulate our economics for the purpose of achieving a controlled revolution.
