BEHIND THE TUSCON MASSACRE

There were six dead and thirteen wounded from the storm of bullets [allegedly] launched by lone gunman, Jared Lee Loughner. Congresswoman Gabrielle Giffords had taken a bullet through the brain. (As of this writing, the Arizona Democrat was in stable condition with doctors mildly optimistic about her recovery. Praise God!) It didn't take long for the left-wing, mainstream media to begin slinging the blame for the incident, pinning it on influential conservatives such as Glen Beck and Rush Limbaugh and Sarah Palin. One Democrat lawmaker put the blame on FOX News. "There's an aura of hate, and elected politicians feed it; certain people on Fox News feed it."¹² The UK's Guardian joined the debate, painting with a very broad brush as they referenced "inflammatory right wing rhetoric" as the center of the controversy. The Congresswoman's father blamed "the whole tea party."³ A headline for a New York Daily News article read thus. "Arizona shooting: Crazy talk by Palin, Beck, Coulter and others just encourages crazy people."⁴ Others bemoaned lax gun laws. The charges made were serious but hardly substantive – and without exception lacking in evidence.

But the attempt by the Left to assign blame to the Right just doesn't hold water. In fact, the truth was much closer to the exact opposite. Whether you agree with his politics or not: If anyone has actually taken the time to listen to Glen Beck they would find that he regularly condemns violence, encourages peaceful protest and preparing to help neighbors in what he believes is a coming mega-crisis. Those are hardly the actions or words of a hate monger. The others indicted by the knee-jerk reactions of the leftist media are no more culpable than Beck. Still the hue and cry is raised – despite the facts. And the fact is: The gunman was confused, likely mentally unstable – and if anything a leftist himself. Commentator John Galt minced no words when he summarized the case. "Thus to clear the air, let's you and I take a moment to understand what this freak was: (1) An atheist, (2) An Obama supporter, (3) //An apparent anarchist / anti-government and establishment nut."⁵ But that was an angle of the story that the media assiduously ignored. They buried the claims of his friends that Loughner leaned heavily to the left.⁶ They ignored the fact that the Communist Manifesto and Hitler's Mein Kampf were among his self-proclaimed favorites on his reading list.⁷ One such former friend, Caitlin Parker, who played in bands with Loughner, described him as "left wing, quite liberal and oddly obsessed with the 2012 prophecy."⁸ But you couldn't find any of that in the mainstream coverage.

And underneath it all lay the possibility of a strange occult connection. In his parent's yard, Loughner placed an ad hoc altar – a shrine of sorts complete with a potted skull, shriveled fruit, ceremonial candles and potting soil. Experts quoted by the Daily News said that the items were elements "featured in the ceremonies of a number of occult groups."⁹ David Bay of Cutting Edge Ministries leans deeper on a former Satanist, Doc Marquis, to explain in more detail just what this backyard symbolism means in occult circles. He tells us that this homemade altar serves as a "Black Magick shrine designed to place a 'killing spell' on an enemy." When carried out properly, the ritual is designed to call a demon into our earthly, physical dimension. Once here, the demon is "ordered by the coven master to kill a human enemy." Bay believes that it is likely that when the spell didn't work, Loughner felt compelled to carry out the murder himself. According to The Cutting Edge, this phenomenon called 'psychic murders' is very real, - recognized by police forces, - and supernatural in nature.¹⁰ [While unable to affirm or discredit this claim, I can point out that the spiritual dimension is very real indeed. For a first hand account of an encounter with demonic forces just reference issues #324 & #325 of this newsletter. They can be accessed in the archives section at atpministry.com.]

Then there are his musical influences; specifically a punk band calling themselves Anti Flag. One song titled Die For The Government, rambles on with its anti-American screed for awhile before breaking into the ending where the chanted chorus of "RED WHITE AND BRAINWASHED" is repeated over and over. [A bit reminiscent of Cole Porter, perhaps? Naw, maybe not!] Justin Sane, a leading member of the group has declared that "Patriotism and Nationalism – they're imaginary boundaries that are being set up by the people in power that divide the masses." According to World Net Daily, "Reviewers typically describe Anti-Flag as violent punk rock anti-government political music that derives its rhetoric from the radical left.”¹¹ These were the forces that seemed to influence Loughner’s actions. Thus, despite the mounting evidence, the forces of freedom are blamed and the chaotic monster is fed its daily dose of lies.

Then there is this. According to several sources, the alleged shooter was “obsessed with mind control”. He raised the question with his professors, even when it was outside the field of discussion. He rambled on about it in his self-produced Youtube videos. Writing for Infowars, Paul Joseph Watson points out that he “was a US military recruit who was obsessed with mind control, mirroring the circumstances of many other mass shooters in history.” With his occult and anti-American background, his profile closely mirrors those of Harris and Klebold, the Columbine shooters. Watson goes on. “Loughner’s interest in the occult makes him an even more vulnerable individual and it also suggests that he may have been taking psychotropic drugs, with is another trait shared by innumerable mass murderers.” MSNBC reveals that he is an admitted “sleepwalker”, - a symptom of both the use of psychotropic drugs and mind control.

But just who would be doing the controlling? This is where things get really crazy. A number of sources are suggesting – not confirming - that it would be the CIA through their program dubbed MK-ULTRA.^{12 13} Now back in 2005, London’s Independent made the case that Sirhan Sirhan, the convicted shooter of Robert Kennedy had been a Manchurian Candidate; an individual brainwashed into a murder, especially a political assassination by outside forces. Again in that case, the possibility was / is being raised that Sirhan was a pawn of the MK-ULTRA program. Paul Joseph Watson explains:

“The CIA’s use of mind control to create killers is a matter of historical record. MK-ULTRA was the code name for a covert, illegal CIA human research program, run by the Office of Scientific Intelligence that came to light in 1975 through investigations by the Church Committee, and by a presidential commission known as the Rockefeller Commission. 14-year CIA veteran Victor Marchetti insists that the program is ongoing and has not been abandoned....Loughner’s obsession with mind control is confirmed and given the historical connection between such events and the use of Manchurian candidates, nothing can be ruled out at this stage.”¹⁴

Thus we enter again that realm of deception which the Bible tells us will be ever-present as we approach the End of the Age. Whatever the truth of the matter, we can know that just the existence of the controversy serves those that would create the chaos that will drive men to seek a new order. For the Left that will mean calls to limit the access to firearms, to sacrifice the 2nd Amendment on the altar of peace and safety. The PTB - as in the case of our airport security – will offer ever-greater government control. It is all just to keep us safe from ourselves. If the screeched lies of the mainstream media succeed in silencing the conservative majority, all the better for their cause. If this is just another stage on the road to chaos, the government backed by the global elites will always have the solution. In fact it is ready to go with its’ martial law plans and executive orders and a military trained in civilian control – all in place. It is our duty to remain aware and alert – and most of all to remain in the faith. Following are Paul’s words of warning – and comfort - to the Christians of Thessalonica. But they speak to us even more aptly today as we approach the time of Christ’s return.

“But concerning the times and the seasons, brethren, you have no need that I should write to you. For you yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so comes as a thief in the night. For when they say, ‘Peace and safety!’ then sudden destruction comes upon them, as labor pains upon a pregnant woman. And they shall not escape. But you, brethren, are not in darkness, so that this Day should overtake you as a thief. You are all sons of light and sons of the day. We are not of the night nor of darkness. Therefore let us not sleep, as others do, but let us watch and be sober. For those who sleep, sleep at night, and those who get drunk are drunk at night. But let us who are of the day be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love, and as a helmet the hope of salvation. For God did not appoint us to wrath, but to obtain salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ, who died for us, that whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with Him.”

(1Thessalonians 5:1-10)

2011 - A LOOK AHEAD – PART II

Last time out we surveyed the economy, world food supplies and the various diplomatic / military hot spots around the world that could spell trouble in 2011. Today we’ll take a look at a few more areas of concern. However, today’s piece will be more rooted in opinion – studied opinion – but opinion none the less. We’ll look at areas that are moving toward prophetic fulfillment and some others that are setting up for massive transformational change.

INCREASING GOVERNMENT CONTROL

I think we can look for the controlling hands of government – on many levels – reach down deeper into the lives – of Americans as well as those across the globe. We know that last year, for instance, the 9th Circuit Court out of California that allows law enforcement officials to employ warrantless GPS tracking against US citizens. One New Jersey judge acknowledged that the government has the ability to track individuals “24/7”.¹⁵ The US now possesses technology that will “be able to survey huge areas at once.” The nine camera drone is set to be deployed in Afghanistan. The device called “Gorgon Stare will be looking at a whole city, so...we can see everything.”¹⁶ [Yeah, that’s pretty comforting!]

In cyber space the Obama administration is pushing for Net Neutrality (read government control), an Internet ID for all Americans, and has lent its support to the UN’s Internet Governance Forum. (That can’t be good.) Elsewhere, the Department of Homeland Security is already making Walmart a partner in their Big Brother surveillance activities. Now they’re talking about using TSA / airport-type security in hotels and shopping malls. Already there are moves to control speech and access on the internet. Attacks like that in Arizona will offer plausible opportunity for more government clampdowns. On the local front, economic and financial pressures will force states, counties and municipalities to raise taxes and fees while at the same time cutting services.^{17 18}

TOWARD PALESTINIAN STATEHOOD

We’ve got a couple of things happening here. First of all more governments are starting to recognize Palestine as a state already. Chile is the latest nation to go this route.¹⁹ But of course Israel will never go along with that, will they? The Israeli daily Haaretz recently offered this headline: “Netanyahu will deliver a Palestinian state.” It went on to explain. “Palestine will come into being, just not according to the original plan and timetable framed by the architect, Netanyahu.” It was July of 2010 that the Prime Minister indicated that he wanted an agreement that will result in the establishment of Palestine. Was that just political posturing? Not according to Haaretz. “Since that day, the Israeli right wing has simmered with consternation. Virtually not a day passes without its leaders contributing another brick to the building of Palestine.” And here’s how the Palestinians view it. “We could close the Foreign Ministry, an aide close to Abbas told me last week, smiling from ear to ear. Bibi [Netanyahu] and [Foreign Minister Avigdor] Lieberman are doing all the work for us.”²⁰ With all the pressure from the US and the rest of the world; look for the Israelis to provide more ‘progress’ on this front – willingly or not.

AROUND THE CORNER ?

Perhaps the biggest danger is what we might be headed for just around the corner. One thing that’s looming is the potential for the US to default on its debt obligations. Such an eventuality would be catastrophic. The deal is this. The United States will reach its legally allowed debt ceiling of $14.3 trillion sometime between March and May of this year. The Republicans in Congress are currently insisting that budget cuts must accompany any increase in the debt ceiling. Treasury Secretary Geithner is warning that failure to do so could mean catastrophe, affecting possibly millions of American jobs as higher interest rates would result in more costly loans to American companies that need them. Geithner’s exact words include the phrase: “catastrophic economic consequences that would last for decades.”²¹ The Secretary is convinced that Congress must act now, “before the threat of default becomes imminent.” Barring congressional action the government would only have delaying actions in its arsenal – able only to put off the inevitable. More analysts are beginning to believe that whether you extend the debt limit or not, it will only “lead to the same end – a complete and total collapse of the way of life Americans have become used to.”²² Karl Denninger of the Market Ticker believes that no matter what action is taken, we’re possibly in for – as the headline says – “...Economic and Political Collapse In Less Than 24 Months.”²³ Here’s Denninger in his own words. “Let me be clear: If you extend the debt ceiling and by doing so allow deficits of this sort to continue for another year, say much less two, you will have placed a loaded shotgun in the mouth of this nation and pulled the trigger. It will go off, and you will splatter this nation’s economic and political system all over the wall.” As Marc Slavo points out, - if and when the US defaults on its debts – (and it is looking increasingly like it just may), - we are likely to “experience a hyperinflationary monetary collapse, complete with disruptions to the normal flow of commerce, food shortages and out of control prices.” World leaders like French President Sarkozy and futurists such as Gerald Celente are warning that those food shortages are imminent. A lack of supply will of course drive the cost of food skyward. And all of this will be exacerbated by a dollar that is plummeting in value. Are you ready for all that?^{24 25} Well perhaps we had better be.

There are powerful forces at work – right now – trying to engineer that very thing. Billionaire George Soros, the man who ‘broke the bank of England’ – known for his radical politics, support of revolutionary causes and actual successful revolutions around the globe is now targeting America. He just can’t understand why the US is resisting the “orderly decline” of the dollar. That – what he also described as the “managed decline” – is part of his quest to usher in alternative currencies, on the way to setting up, what one writer described as, “Big Brother-style one world government based on extreme European-style socialism.”²⁶ An American collapse of sorts is the tool to be used to achieve that noble end. To listen to the economist and social commentator who goes by the name Vox Day, that fate may just be in the cards. As a culture, we are a people that has rejected God. “The modern, secular West has insisted that it no longer requires God now that it enjoys science, technology and wealth. It increasingly appears that Americans are going to be given the chance to discover if that is actually true.” This may just be what is driving our dark social mood. Through the study of something called socionomics, Day points out the historical fact that “social mood is the primary driver of economic growth and contraction.” This is not only an American problem, but can be observed worldwide. Portugal, Italy and eventually Spain sit on the verge of some very serious financial trouble – endangering possibly the viability of the euro and even the European Union itself. We may fast be descending into a period of recessions, depressions, famine, disease, war and social unrest. Clinging to our faux prosperity, we may be damning ourselves to the loss of our prosperity – and as a result, our freedoms. As Day puts it, “If the socionomic perspective is correct, even the faithless would do well to pray that the economy recoversBecause if it does not, what happened in Arizona and Acapulco this weekend is only going to be a harbinger of things to come.”²⁷

America, this once Godly republic has turned from God by either actively flaunting his laws, or passively looking on as our culture descends into ungodliness. Here’s the scriptural take on that. “For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who suppress the truth in unrighteousness...And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a debased mind, to do those things which are not fitting; being filled with all unrighteousness, sexual immorality, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, evil-mindedness; they are whisperers, backbiters, haters of God, violent, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, undiscerning, untrustworthy, unloving, unforgiving, unmerciful; who, knowing the righteous judgment of God, that those who practice such things are deserving of death, not only do the same but also approve of those who practice them.” (Romans 1:18, 28-32) If God so judged Israel and the ancient nations: How can we make the case that He should forego that judgment with regard to us? It’s time to get serious. It’s time to repent!
