WARS & RUMORS

IRAN – The Iranians continue to improve their diplomatic and strategic position vis-à-vis their goals. They are positioning themselves as the regional Islamic power and champion of the Islamic cause – as well as stoking the flames of chaos designed to create the new Islamic caliphate and usher in the coming of the Mahdi. They are the chief supporters of Syria, Hezbollah and Hamas. They have a stake among the Shiites in Iraq and covet the oil wealth in the south of that country around Basra. And militarily they are advancing their capabilities as well as their strategic positioning. They've now developed a new homemade ballistic missile system, not as easily detected as older versions. More ominously, they are medium-range ballistic missile launch sites in Hugo Chavez' Venezuela. The object: Obviously the United States.^{1 2}

PAKISTAN - Rumors and rumblings in the aftermath of the US raid that took out Osama bin-Laden are ratcheting up the temperature in the already delicate area of US-Pakistani relations. Immediately following the operation, Pakistan officially made their displeasure known as the US pointedly refused to apologize. Both Britain's Guardian and the New York Post report that the tension may be part of an "understanding" worked out between Pakistan's then-President Musharraf and President Bush about a decade ago. According to the Post, the arrangement "would allow the US to make a unilateral raid inside Pakistan to find bin Laden, with Pakistan then expected to heatedly protest after the fact." The government in Islamabad must always try to balance pro-Western and pro-radical-Islamic factions in the country.

But things may be going a bit farther this time. Earlier this year, Raymond Davis, an agent under contract to the CIA killed two Pakistani intelligence officers who had been following him. He was arrested but then released from custody after 'blood money' had been paid. Citing Russian intelligence source, one Pakistani paper is alleging that an even darker and more twisted a plot is emerging. "The paper quoted the sources, as claiming that the Soviet Intelligence Agency had already disclosed that CIA contractor Raymond Davis and his network had provided Al-Qaeda operatives with chemical, nuclear and biological weapons, so that US installations may be targeted and Pakistan be blamed." That is – in their view – all part of a plot to allow the US and its allies to seize Pakistan's nuclear stocks. Those rumors have been swirling around for at least a couple of years now that the US had plans in place to seize Pakistan's nuclear arsenal to keep it from falling into the hands of the Taliban. That has to be considered a real threat. The Pakistani's had to send troops to retake a naval / air base that had been temporarily occupied by the Taliban. [But if we are to believe the Paki reports – we can't even be sure if that was the REAL Taliban.] India's ANI news service referenced Pakistani sources in reporting: "Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) operatives have infiltrated the Taliban and Al-Qaeda networks, and have created their own Tehrik-e-Taliban Pakistan (TTP) force in order to destabilise Pakistan." So though it was denied, with that silent threat of American intervention has been hanging in the ether between the two...[ahem]...allies. That's no doubt why Pakistan's Prime Minister thought it necessary to issue a warning aimed at the US. "Any attack against Pakistan's strategic assets, whether overt or covert, will find a matching response."^{3 4 5}

China has anted up, backing Islamabad. The Indian Express reported that: "In the wake of the US raid in Abbottabad that killed Osama bin Laden, China has 'warned in unequivocal terms that any attack on Pakistan would be construed as an attack on China.'" While the statement has been sourced to diplomatic channels, China publicly called upon the United States to "respect Pakistan's sovereignty and solidarity."⁶ At the same time, the Pak Tribune reported that China backed up her words by transferring "50 state-of-the-art JF-17 fighter jets to Pakistan." This is power politics on a global scale. The Great Powers of our day are playing political hardball - and the stakes could be millions or even tens of millions of lives. What's in contention is the Paki nuclear arsenal. Back in 2009 FOX News was reporting: “The United States has a detailed plan for infiltrating Pakistan and securing its mobile arsenal of nuclear warheads if it appears the country is about to fall under the control of the Taliban, Al Qaeda or other Islamic extremists.” President Obama has reportedly approved these plans and US troops stand at the ready.^{7 8}

Now let’s add in the allies. India is an American ally in the region and Webster Tarpley quotes the Times of India in revealing that that country has “gone ahead with provocative scheduled military maneuvers targeting Pakistan.” He described it thus: “This atomic-biological-chemical Blitzkrieg drill involves the Second Armored Corps, ‘considered to be the most crucial of the Indian Army’s three principal strike formations tasked with virtually cutting Pakistan in two during a full-fledged war.’”⁹

This is all setting up very much like the run-up to World War I that occupied the summer months of 1914. In that bygone era it was the Dual Alliance of Germany and Austria-Hungary that danced a diplomatic-military dance with what became the Triple Entente; France, Russia and England. It ended in global war and tens of millions of dead as well as the re-ordering of the entire world order. Much the same way, it seems the United States and India are playing a dangerous game against China and Pakistan. And where would Russia stand in such a conflict. While America has long been considered the world’s lone superpower, in a contest between these factions the outcome could not be certain. After studying China’s new J-20 Stealth Fighter, a Washington think tank believes that the Chinese have effectively altered the balance of power in East Asia. The Jamestown Foundation called it a “game changer” that would render regional air defenses obsolete. The US is said to have no counter for this latest Chinese technology that fully matches US stealth capabilities.¹⁰ This is but another step in China’s program of advancing and modernizing their military capabilities.

Context For The Crazyness

Now every so often, something comes in that dovetails so completely with something covered earlier that it becomes almost eerie. In this case it is the opening entries in a series I ran called: CONSPIRACIES & REALITIES. That in turn dovetailed with the information revealed by Peter Lemesurier’s 1980 book, The Armageddon Script as well as other New Age / Illuminati writings that I covered in my book: THE HISTORY OF THE FUTURE, (available at atpministry.com). The crux of that series were the revelations of an anonymous witness we shall call W. The original research and interviews with W were conducted by New World Order researcher Bill Ryan.

Ryan claims that he thoroughly vetted his subject for authenticity and that he is exactly who claims to be; - which is retired British military, (involved with the missile program), and a senior executive in the City of London. City of London is shorthand for the UK equivalent of the very center of the Wall Street financial power – considered by some to be the real center of global finance. Back in 2005 he attended a meeting of Senior Masons in the City of London. At the meeting the British military guy, W - outlined what he heard, much of which was outlandish beyond belief – especially in the casualness with which some subjects as nuclear war and the slaughter of billions of souls through biological weapons – were referred to by dozens of ‘insiders’ that seemed to be ‘in on’ the plan. He tells us that these were not the decision makers – for the most part – but were more at the operations level, carrying out decisions that had had long ago been decided. W did say that there were some senior officials present, big-wigs from the Conservative Party, and high ranking members of the Church of England. Because of his position he was assumed to be part of the group that was ‘in the know. It was the one and only meeting that he attended. Driven by conscience he came forward to warn the world of what is on the near horizon. [Recall, that we are only giving this credence because it coincides with previous information.]

W asserts that all the preparations are already in place for the next stage of the plan. A major part of that preparation was the financial collapse of October 2008. We’ve noted here before that the entities that ‘made out’ when all the government money was being thrown around were those that were ‘connected’ to the international banking and finance houses throughout the globe. Even when paper losses were being absorbed it was resulting in a stronger control of the market by Illuminati bankers. W put it like this, the financial collapse was merely the “centralization of financial resources.” It is all part of a scenario being worked over many generations. Even World War’s I & II were a part of the plan. Here are Bill Ryan’s bullet points of the most important points in his exhaustive interview with W.

1. Financial collapse of 2008 was planned to achieve “centralization of financial resources.”
2. World War III to be arranged to start by the end of 2011.
3. That war begins when Israel strikes Iran. China or Iran to respond with nukes. This stage to be confined to Middle East.
4. This engineered chaos will bring de-facto martial law in US & the West. [Plans now in place.]
5. After a cease fire, bio-war to be unleashed on China using genetically specific weapons designed to target their population.
6. That brings about a full nuclear exchange. The aim; - To reduce world’s population by 50%.
7. Beyond that: They are waiting on a Geophysical Event that will further alter the world system.¹¹

I am NOT, however, - repeat: NOT SAYING THAT WORLD WAR III WILL BREAK OUT BEFORE THE END OF THE YEAR! So what are we looking at here? Is this all ‘crazy talk’? Surprisingly this is amazingly consistent with the revealed plans of the Illuminati types and the developing events of our day. Yet we must always remember that man’s ways are not God’s ways. In the end, it is the plans of the Creator that will stand. “The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD, and against his anointed, saying, Let us break their bands asunder, and cast away their cords from us. He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh: the LORD shall have them in derision.” (Psalms 2:2-4) (KJV)

RED SKY AT MORNING

“[B]ecause, although they knew God, they did not glorify Him as God, nor were thankful, but became futile in their thoughts, and their foolish hearts were darkened. Professing to be wise, they became fools.” (Rom 1:22-23)

We’ve covered this all before. The smell of financial disaster is in the air and it is getting stronger by the day. The boys who’ve accurately called the shots since a year before this financial crisis began to break a few years back are at it again. LEAP 20/20 for instance is calling for massive dislocation which will be triggered by a rolling financial crisis which will have its affect on the globe’s political institutions. It’s as if the entire world is infested with a spirit of foolishness; unable to perceive the natural consequences of their actions. Or it seems like it all may be planned to advance some sinister purpose. Or perhaps; a little bit of both.

The heretofore unnervingly accurate LEAP 20/20 looks for the autumn of this year to produce an: “Explosive fusion of world geopolitical dislocation and the global economic and financial crisis.” The world system is re-aligning. As China rises, American power is on the wane. According to the IMF: The rising Chinese GDP will overtake that of the long-dominant US by 2016.¹² The world is preparing for a changing of the guard. Here’s a bit of what LEAP 20/20’s publication – GEAB # 55 has to say about what’s coming.

For “several months the world has experienced an almost unbroken succession of geopolitical, economic and financial shocks which, according to LEAP/E2020, constitute the warning signs of a major traumatic event...At the same time the international system has now passed the stage of structural weakening to enter a phase of complete decay where old alliances are breaking down, whilst new communities of interest are emerging very quickly. Finally, any hope for significant and lasting global economic recovery has now evaporated whilst the Western pillar’s indebtedness, especially the US, has reached a critical level unparalleled in modern history. The catalyst for this explosive fusion will obviously be the international monetary system, or rather international monetary chaos which has been further exacerbated since the disaster that struck Japan last March and in front of the inability of the United States to face the requirement for an immediate and significant reduction of its huge deficits.”¹³

But they are not the only thinkers on the block to see what’s almost inevitably coming down the road. The signs are everywhere. A rising chorus of economists and analysts are warning that actions by both the American Government and the Federal Reserve are feeding the looming monster. Gold Seek argues that “market manipulation” and the wild money-printing schemes of the Fed have “completely distorted the free market”. While papering over some trouble areas in the short run, they will almost surely result in “a very sharp fall in the US dollar” and bond rates. Then they use the same words as the LEAP folks. This could create another “systemic crisis” and lead to recession, depression and hyperinflation.¹⁴ JP Morgan Chairman Jamie Dimon warned that if the US fails to get its financial house in order the consequences would “dwarf” the Lehman Brothers crisis. The US is heading toward default and that would be a disaster that could seriously curtail America’s clout as a world economic leader.¹⁵ That echoes, you may recall, the words of futurist Gerald Celente, who sees the US diminishing to Third World status by the end of 2012. Even the UN is getting in the act. In an update to their report titled: “World Economic Situation and Prospects 2011”, they refer to the “still looming risk of a collapse of the United States dollar.” As more dollars are printed – backed essentially by just-about nothing – the value of the dollar will continue to fall. The US is carrying far too much debt at every level; federal, state and local. Medicare & Medicaid, join state pensions Social Security as unsustainable liabilities. It’s now getting to the point where no one really wants to hold US debt anymore. The United Nations says: “As a result, further (expected) losses of the book value of the vast foreign reserve holdings could trigger a crisis of confidence in the reserve currency, which would put the entire global financial system at risk.”¹⁶ That threatens the very status of the American dollar as the globe’s reserve currency. Interest rates will shoot up – further driving down the value of the dollar. That development would in turn shake the US economy to its very core.

We return to the analysis of LEAP 20/20. “Summer of 2011 will confirm that the US Federal Reserve has lost its bet....the Fed will helplessly watch interest rates rise, US government deficit costs explode, the world dive into an intensified economic recession, stock exchange collapse and the US dollar show erratic behavior, making short-term saw-tooth movements, depending on the influence of these events, before suddenly losing 30% of its value.” Yet the majority of Americans remain “in dreamland” as central bankers around the globe stock up on gold – positioning themselves for the end of dollar dominance. [They’re getting prepared and so must we; spiritually as well as materially!] And if it goes this way, its affects will not be limited to the financial and economic spheres. Another future-trends superstar with a stellar record of accuracy is warning of an impending spill-over into the socio-political realm. Gerald Celente of Trends Research is looking at the growing unrest in Spain – (youth there have taken over the centers of about 60 cities) – and believes its going to spread over the course of the summer. Young people in France and Portugal are already laying the groundwork for demonstrations in their respective nations. Here’s Celente: “These revolutions are going to spread through the summer in Europe, and by the winter it's going to go global.”¹⁷ This is NOT gospel – but the boys at LEAP seem convinced of the timing of the looming collapse. They close their latest issue with this chilling pronouncement. “Crazy central bankers, world leaders without a roadmap, economies at risk, inflation rising, currencies in trouble, frenzied commodities, uncontrolled Western debt, unemployment at its highest, stressed societies ... there’s no doubt, the explosive fusion of all these events will really be the memorable event of the second half of 2011!”¹⁸ It would all sound so crazy...if it wasn’t for their track record!
