DISCERNING THE TIME: 2012 – PART IV

We've been working our way through the Agenda of Antichrist's Team. They've given us the plan – to create the chaos that will bring the New Age Christ to power. This week we're going to concentrate on the Economic Sphere. In that, we'll be kind of taking up where the 'A' part of last week's installment left off. Lemesurier's Armageddon Script told us that one of the pillars of their scheme is a Stock Market Collapse. Now how could that happen?

ECONOMIC FREE-FALL

“When He opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature say, ‘Come and see.’ So I looked, and behold, a black horse, and he who sat on it had a pair of scales in his hand. And I heard a voice in the midst of the four living creatures saying, ‘A quart of wheat for a denarius, and three quarts of barley for a denarius; and do not harm the oil and the wine.’” (Revelation 6:5-6)

It is clear that during Great Tribulation a great portion of mankind will be reduced to extreme poverty and extreme want. As has been explained many times – a denarius is a day's wage – and for that day's wage – a man will barely be able to afford to feed himself much less his family. These are near starvation conditions. This will be the case during the Great Tribulation – and we pre-Tribbers are not planning (and hoping) we won't be here for that bit of fun. But in the meantime, we can witness world conditions moving toward that end.

The fact of the matter is that we must recognize that Forces that control our globe understand that an economy in free fall creates conditions in which society becomes...well let us say, malleable. In chaos, revolutions are possible. France in 1789 and Russia in 1917 are prime examples. Dictatorships are sometimes viewed as relief from the disorder. That will likely be the case when people call for “Peace and Safety” as described in 2Thessalonians 5:3. Order will trump personal freedom. If you want to coronate an Antichrist – a New Age Prince – this is what you want to see. The Illuminati have told us that this is what they plan. So I offer you this...

A WARNING FROM AN ANONYMOUS FRIEND

What follows was provided to me by a regular correspondent of mine, who by her choice shall remain nameless. She regularly passes on information, much of it deep background, that sheds light on some of the most sensational and pregnant news stories of our day that point to the fact that we're living on the edge of very monumental events. She has forwarded a number of these to me recently that present an interesting picture of what may lie just over the horizon. The information contained was anecdotal in nature and not verified. It did however seem to dovetail rather nicely with confirmed reports that ARE verified. These unconfirmed reports contained a common threat within them that ties in with much of what I've been writing vis-à-vis both the economic situation in the world as well as trouble on the Iranian front. With that as a point of origin, they shed more light on actions that would affect us more directly and personally, here on the domestic front.

In order to fully understand the analysis that follows – which is the center of this piece – it is necessary to look at that common thread running through the communications, coming as they are from many and varied sources. Those sources, by the way, put claim to having somewhat ranking military backgrounds or long-time ties with the higher levels of American security agencies. What they shared in common is that they are all looking forward to an 'Event' that will change the way we live our lives. From what can be put together, the event will result in chaos breaking out in American society. Often discreetly referencing 'connections' and 'inside information', the writers are anticipating something big to occur – likely by sometime in April of this year – with its effects taking their toll through the rest of the year. Their stories paint a picture of a 'Big Government' response that seems to reek of preparation to establishFEMA campsto deal with the result of these events. Some even referenced suitcase nukes supposedly seen. Wacko stuff? I don't know.

A number of these reports referred to an event – “IT” – that would precipitate the chaos. A lot of the observations centered around visible preparations being put in place by DHS and military types, - heightened security, - heightened activity at air bases, - increased and unusual deployments, - black uniformed personnel, - military exercises conducted in a “fevered pitch”, - and quite the number of individuals who were building compounds to weather the storm or making preparations to bug out at a moments notice. With all that as background – and the predictions related by Pastor Lindsay Williams offered up in last issue - concerning an engineered currency devaluation conducted in the time-frame of a single weekend, I found the following analysis of the “IT” to be very compelling. Even if are being wildly misinterpreted – and I don't believe they are -, it still provides what I believe is the most cogent and concise summary of our economic peril I've seen yet. [Editor]

Analysis by an Anonymous Friend

[The following is a paraphrase of the analysis forwarded me by a trusted and anonymous source. Quotes are from this source unless otherwise footnoted.]

After looking at all the information that is surfacing out there – whether it be found in private forums or economic journals etc , I've reached the conclusion that the "IT" that everyone is searching for is the 800 pound gorilla in the room. The United States Dollar, following the close of WWII, became the ‘Reserve Currency’ of the world. This meant that as long as the Dollar remained the world's currency – it would always be accepted and even ‘in demand’ across the Globe. And with that came certain advantages.

For one, it meant that it was possible for the US Government to print as many dollars in just about any amount – as needed. This could be used to meet demand for currency in the United States itself and also to settle international accounts “without regard to its earnings of foreign currencies through its exports. All that was needed to pay the U.S.'s bills was simply to create more dollars, often out of thin air, and use them to cover the shortfall. And, shortfalls were many, and are continuing.”

But what would be the implications should America lose its ability to pay its bills by opening up the printing presses and create dollars out of nothing? “Today, the Federal budget requires that the U.S. Treasury borrow, or have the Fed invent, 40 some cents of every dollar that the Government spends. Further, our international accounts are settled (balanced) with dollars created out of thin air by the Federal Reserve, i.e., we no longer make and export enough goods and services to pay for our imports. The difference must be made up with 'invented out of thin air' dollars. We could get away with this scam because the dollar was the reserve currency, and was thus acceptable the world over. To seal its role as the 'acceptable' currency, all oil transactions in the world were settled in U.S. dollars which insured a continuing demand for U.S. dollars.”

But now, pressure is building to end this peculiarly American advantage. Russia, China and others are ramping up the pressure to engineer some replacement for the American Dollar as the World's reserve currency. When the US Dollar is supplanted in its role as the global reserve currency – America will have to settle its accounts like any decent country – or household or shop holder – by actually paying for it with earnings. As to things domestic: That means that taxes need rise or expenditures and services will have to decrease – or both those things will have to happen. As to foreign accounts: The US “will have to balance its imports of products and services with exports, i.e., we will have to earn our way in the world.”

Not long ago, just about all foreign trade was transacted in US dollars. Now other nations are getting into the act. Chinese, Russian, Japanese and European currencies are being used in international trade. Iran has already made moves to break the American Dollar trade monopoly on oil. And as imports increase and the share of American imports wane, we are losing our grip on our own domestic market. The New York Times reported that by 2008, “37 percent of all manufactured goods sold in America were imported. That was more than double the percentage in 1991.”¹ Then throw in the fact that we are importing an increasing percentage of our food products.

Now, let us suppose that on a given date – [this year or soon thereafter] - that America must “begin to pay with current taxes, and or foreign currency earnings all of it imports, and cover the Federal deficit. The quick response is that we'll simply borrow the money. But, that's what we are doing now, and a funny thing is already happening. Fewer and fewer people are bidding to buy U.S. Treasury securities, so the Federal Reserve is, as is required, stepping in to create, out of thin air, the dollars necessary to buy the new bond issues of the Treasury, i.e., monetizing the debt.”

‘Monetizing’ is just a fancy word for printing money. It is a time honored and deeply dishonest way for governments to cheat those who have lent it money. The Chinese have already repeatedly warned about that and demanded that America start to live within its means.² They’re upset because they lent us the money when it was worth X and now it is worth (X minus Something). Theirs was a good faith loan and now we want to pay them back bad money for good. “In point of fact, there is no way that the United States can meet its debt obligations legitimately, i.e., with good money. The debts are too many, and our productive capacity is too small.” Soon the US will no longer be able to play that game “of covering its debts with 'invented' money.” That day will come with the end of the Dollar’s role as the World’s currency. But almost more important will be what will follow that almost-mathematically-certain eventuality. [This is a subject that this newsletter has covered many times before. Think tanks like LEAP 20/20 and futurists such as Gerald Celente – among many others we have quoted – see a quick and sharp decline in the American standard of living occurring sometime during 2012. Pastor Lindsay Williams, connected to the world’s Elite and sporting a very accurate record regarding these things – believes that a 40% drop in the buying power of the average American is coming this year. LEAP puts the number at 30%. (See Newsletter #379)]

“If we are not earning enough foreign currency to balance our trade now, and we are not - trade on the current scale must stop. If we can only buy what we can pay for out of current earnings then we will be limited in the amount of food or automobiles, or nails and screws etc. etc., that we can buy abroad. Further, if the Federal Reserve is no longer permitted to 'invent' dollars with which to buy U.S. Treasury securities, then the Government must spend less money. Currently, it is spending 40% more than is being brought in through taxes. What expenditures will need to be given up? How about not paying the Army, or doing away with Social Security and Medicare, or Medicaid, for that matter? What about not paying the Alphabet Agencies? You see the problem!”

[Our anonymous writer believes that the issue could come to a head very quickly. The decision is in the hand of those nations that have lent us money.] “If the dollar is not longer acceptable, or is acceptable ONLY at a VERY steep discount (recognized inflation) then we are in a world of hurt, and our economy could fail as a result. There might be riots in the street,” as systems of distribution break down. “If we had to pay 'good money' for imported fuel it is doubtful that we could do it now. Significant reductions in the availability of fuel means that groceries don't get delivered etc. etc. Other trade also shuts down because spot shortages make transport unreliable. With such circumstances the economy is at risk of shutting down, or at least slowing greatly.” All this “could explain why there is lots of advice being given to get out of the cities, and to have food, water and ammunition in your kit.”

This is the "IT" that everyone fears, and, truly, "IT" is on our door step. Of course, I could be wrong, and hope that I am. But, true be told, the scary part is that I think that I'm correct. [An Anonymous Friend]

Could Our Anonymous Friend Be Right ?

We cannot really know the answer to that question until the future unfolds. However, the signs are there. In previous issues we’ve tracked how the government is taking such a scenario seriously indeed. Increased surveillance, martial law plans and preparations for FEMA camps are evidence of just how earnestly Washington is taking the possibility of a breakdown in the social structure of the country. But it has been argued by some that this is but a distant eventuality – unlikely to occur any time soon. The fact is however, that even now plans are being laid to kick out the underpinnings of the structure that supports the American economy. Plans are quietly going forward to replace the Dollar as the world’s currency. And that would be a game changer. Now, no less a economic guru than Nobel Prize winner Joseph Stiglitz is predicting that eventuality just over the horizon. The pressure is building for what would be a monumental reordering of the rules of the game. “China and Russia pushed for a new reserve system at the last G-20 meeting but the United States did not agree to let the dollar be replaced.” He now expects a new global reserve currency system to ‘evolve’ at possibly the next meeting of the G20.³ Giving credence to that view is a report that foreign investors have been dumping dollars and moving to alternate forms of wealth. They’ve off-loaded a record $85 billion in T-Bills in just the last 6 weeks.⁴

ANOTHER AMAZING COINCIDENCE – It’s the craziest thing. You see there was this Iranian atomic scientist working at a “key nuclear facility” - and somebody - nobody’s saying exactly who – attached explosive devices to his car – and he blew up and died. [Now don’t get me wrong – in the human sense, this is a very tragic thing – a soul lost.] But the amazing thing is, that he’s not the first. Now the Israelis deny it was them...but...It wasn’t the first time that happened. There are at least three other incidents in which top Iranian nuclear scientists were the targets of bombs or gunfire – all dating back to January of 2010. Three more lost their lives in those incidents and another was wounded, survived and then appointed head of Iran’s nuclear program. Guess it’s just not safe to be an Iranian scientist working on a bomb for a regime that has promised to destroy Israel.⁵

SPEAKING OF WHACKED SCIENTISTS – Dutch scientists have deliberately engineered a version of the Avian Flu virus that can more easily spread to humans. The highly contagious virus could kill more than half of those infected, taking the lives of millions if it were to “escape from the lab”. The new virus can spread from human to human by coughing or sneezing. This is a research project whose dangerous downside far outweighs the benefits.^{6 7}

REALLY STUPID...OR SOMETHING WORSE ? – In the signing statement that accompanied President Obama’s signing the 2012 Defense Appropriations Bill into law he indicated – in the words of the Washington Times – that he was “prepared to share U.S. missile defense secrets with Russia.” The article by Bill Gertz went on. “U.S. officials are planning to provide Moscow with the SM-3 data, despite reservations from security officials who say that doing so could compromise the effectiveness of the system by allowing Russian weapons technicians to counter the missile. The weapons are considered some of the most effective high-speed interceptors in the U.S. missile defense arsenal. There are also concerns that Russia could share the secret data with China and rogue states such as Iran and North Korea to help their missile programs defeat U.S. missile defenses.”⁸ Mr Obama insisted that restrictions on his ability to share the information would infringe on his constitutional authority.⁹

UFO’s: JUST FOR THE RECORD – ‘Just the facts, ma’am’. Reports of UFO sightings have skyrocketed in the first week of the New Year. For the entire month of January 2012 there were 233 reports – nearly half of the around 500 sighted in the entire month of January 2011. An alien presence is a part of the Illuminati plan to engineer the Antichrist into being.¹⁰ “The coming of the lawless one is according to the working of Satan, with all power, signs, and lying wonders.” (2Thessalonians 2:9) Hey, I’m just saying!

THE IRANIAN FRONT: DID SOMEBODY BLINK ? – As we’ve been following, things have been getting rather hairy when it comes to the Middle East - especially concerning Iran and Syria. With American and NATO air and naval assets gathering in the region, Russia issued a stern warning to the West. Russia’s Deputy Prime Minister Rogozin said, “Should anything happen to Iran, should Iran get drawn into any political or military hardships, this will be a direct threat to our national security.”¹¹ [That sounds like ‘War Talk’ to me!] Russia is currently backing this up with a naval presence in the region – docked at the Syrian port of Tartus. At the same time another Kremlin official warned the Saudis and other oil producing nations that they would be an “accomplice in the consequences” should they increase their production to make up any shortfall that would occur if an embargo took Iranian crude off the market.¹² And as THAT was going on, the Jerusalem Post reported: “Israel and the US have decided to cancel a massive missile defense drill planned for the spring, amid concern the exercise could lead to an escalation with Iran, senior defense officials said Sunday.”¹³ At first it looked like a total cave in on the part of America and Israel. However that might not be the case. According to DEBKA, Prime Minister Netanyahu was not satisfied with American steps in the matter. After all, the US had been made to look like a paper tiger when they neglected to pass through the Straits of Hormuz after being warned off by Tehran. It seems “Netanyahu acted when he judged the Obama administration’s resolve to preempt a nuclear Iran to be flagging.” After all – to Washington, an Iran without a nuclear weapon is a preference. To Jerusalem: It is an essential condition of existence. It concerns the very survival of the Jewish state.^{14 15} To further confuse the issue, a spokesman for the United States European Command (EUCOM) stated that this was not a cancellation – but a postponement . “We are going to be conducting the exercise in the second half of 2012.”¹⁶ So it looks like we’ve got some fun to look forward to in the second half of the year.
